Praise songs

A praise song is a Christian song with easy lyrics and a clear rhythm. Especially for the youth these songs are more attractive than the old psalms and hymns. Nowadays this music is regularly used in churches. Often there is a live band. I have also played in such a band for some time. Many praise songs are very suitable for ballroom dancing. Here is a list. The number after the dance indicates the tempo in bars per minute.

Nick & Simon - Christmas with Nick & Simon

Nick & Simon have made a nice Christmas CD which contains many songs that are suitable for ballroom dancing. On the cd there are songs that you hear already on every Christmas dance evening, but luckily there are also some brand new songs.

Here is a list. The number after the dance indicates the tempo in bars per minute. To the song "Christmas in our hearts" you can dance a Quickstep after one minute.

Greek dances - part 8

This time you can learn the Zonaradikos. Read the dance magazines 103, 129-132, 135-137, 141 and 151 for more about Greek dances.

Zonaradikos (Ζωναράδικος)

The name of this dance comes from the Greek word zoni (ζώνη) what means belt. The Zonaradikos is danced in an open circle, whereby the dancers hold each other's belt. Men and women can join this dance. The men dance in front, so at the right. Here is a description of the basic step. Every step has the same duration. The steps can differ a little per region.

Step	Description
	The start direction is a bit at the right of the center.
1	Step to the side and a little forward with your RF.
2	Step with your LF crossed over your RF.
3	Turn a little counterclockwise in order to face the center and step to the side with your RF.
4	Make a little hop on your RF.
5	Step back with your LF.
6	Make a little hop on your LF and turn back.

Iron beads dancers

I wanted to make a Flamenco dancer from iron beads.

And this is the result. Designing a dancer on a circle pegboard is a challenge, but it worked great for the dress.

The Dance Magazine

This Highland dancer you might have seen before at my dance exhibition.

<http://bolderf.home.xs4all.nl/tentoonstelling/strijk.htm>

This one I didn't design by myself, but I made it from a small photograph of an embroidery pattern.

After about 8 years, the right arm was broken. Such a long thin arm is of course very fragile.

You can make it stronger by making a background, like I did with the Flamenco dancer. In this case I liked it better to put transparent beads at the weak places.

Book - Ballroom World Dance Book

I have bought this big book at bol.com. While reading I began to appreciate it more and more. There is written a lot about music and rhythms. I have already many dance books and this is the first book I have found in which the explanation of the Jive rhythm is correct. Even in official dance books for teachers, the beat values of the Jive rhythm are not correct, but it looks like almost nobody dares to doubt about the content of these books. In dance magazine number 16 I have written an article about the Jive rhythm. In the book you can also read about the dances, history, phrasing, dance etiquette, percussion, dance sport and well known dancers. In the book you will also find interviews, tips and descriptions of a few basic steps. Keep in mind that there is mostly written about the American Style. I find this book not only nice for beginners, but also for experienced dancers.

Ballroom World Dance Book

Allen G. Darnel

English

468 pages

Hardcover

Black and white photos

ISBN: 9780692006917

Price: 38,99 euro

I asked Allen some questions:

How did you come to the idea to write a dance book?

When I started as a teacher at Arthur Murray studios in Tucson, Arizona, USA I couldn't remember the steps when I was teaching a student, so I kept a note book in my pocket with the steps I would be teaching that hour. Soon I had steps and other info and a bunch of material and decided to put it in book form. From 1956 to 2002 I had several books: DANCE DANCE DANCE (1960), TWO LEFT FEET (1968), ONE STEP BETTER (1972), BEGINNERS ONLY DANCE BOOK (1998). In 2002 I started on BALLROOM WORLD DANCE BOOK and used material from the previous books and finally came up with a finish book in 2010 which I revised a few times to finally get the corrected version in september 2013, 468 pages in all.

The Dance Magazine

The book consists of a lot of good information about music and rhythm. Do you have a musical background?

Yes, lots of music and rhythm stuff. I had no musical background. However, I listen to music constantly and knew most of the songs through the 50s till now. A lot of the music info was from the many musicians and teachers who contributed to the book. I learned about note values on my own and having lots of time listening to different types of music, I could recognize which timing and sound went with which dances, e.g. Jive music just doesn't sound like Samba timing.

At your site I have read that you are thinking to create a ballroom dance museum. Can you tell more about that?

I'll build the dance museum and ballroom place some time in the future.

Come Dance With Me

This dance movie from 2012 is nice for Christmas. The story is about Jack (Andrew McCarthy) who is an executive in a financial brokerage firm. He has a relation with Demi (Stephanie Mills), the rich daughter of the firms president. To propose her in a special way at the Christmas dance, he decides to sign up for dance lessons. He gets private lessons from dance instructor Christine (Michelle Nolden). But when sparks start to fly between Jack and Christine, he will have to make some important decisions before it is too late.

There is a lot of dancing in this movie. The dancing is not that special, you will see mostly beginners lessons of the American Style waltz. At the Christmas dance, a couple gives a nice Mambo dance demonstration.

The running time of the movie is about 83 minutes.
